PETITIONING THE COURT

To issue a warrant.

On May 20, 2024, an officer reviewed the judgment with the offender. Ms. Markham signed the judgment acknowledging an understanding of her conditions of supervision.

The probation officer believes that the offender has violated the following condition(s) of supervision:

Violation Number	Nature of Noncompliance
1	Mandatory Condition #1: You must not commit another federal, state or local crime.

Supporting Evidence: It is alleged Ms. Markham has violated her conditions of supervised release by committing the following offense: Telephone Harassment Threat to Harm, in violation of Washington State R.C.W 9.61.230 CF, on or about June 18, 2025.

According to a police report filed with the Spokane County Sheriff's Office, case number 2025-10083976, a friend of Ms. Markham's called the Spokane County Sheriff's Office on behalf of her son, who is mentally impaired, to report an incident of a threat to harm.

Ms. Markham's friend stated, on June 18, 2025, she received numerous voice mails, phone calls, and text messages from Ms. Markham, stating she was going to torture and kill her son. In one of the voice mails, Ms. Markham claimed to be in possession of a firearm she had obtained from her father, and said she would "use it." Ms. Markham also said that she was going to harm her son because Ms. Markham thought her son stole lotion from her the previous day.

The U.S. Probation Office respectfully recommends the Court issue a warrant requiring the offender to appear to answer to the allegation(s) contained in this petition.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
